Knowledge can be the difference between an incident and a disaster.

First Responder e-Learning Program:

Whether your team is responding to a fire, accident, crime code or medical emergency, ensuring public safety is the first order of business.

National Grid's First Responder Utility Safety Training is a free, self-paced training program. It makes sure that you – and everyone you ride with – can quickly, safely and confidently deal with any natural gas and utility-related hazard you might encounter.
